

It Takes a Village... Engaging and Working with the Community: A Practical Exploration of the AITSL Professional Practice

This is a Cross-Sectoral workshop hosted by CEO in collaboration with AISWA and DoE.

Facilitator: Brendan Spillane

Brendan Spillane led the school review and improvement framework for Western Australian Catholic schools (Quality Catholic Schooling or QCS) and the CEOWA (QCS Office). He has extensive experience as a teacher, principal and professional coach. His current fields of interest are organisational intelligence, organisational improvement, leadership development and the exploration of dialogue as a key skill in building a sustainable and generative organisational culture.

Target Audience:

Catholic, AISWA and Department of Education principals and senior members of staff aspiring to principalship.

Course Outcomes:

The Australian Institute for Teaching and School Leadership (AITSL) National Professional Standard for Principals is a public statement which sets out what principals are expected to know, understand and do to achieve in their work. This one day, cross-sectoral course is designed to assist Catholic, AISWA and Department of Education principals and members of their leadership teams to develop:

- an understanding of the AITSL National Professional Standard for Principals as a learning framework that can be applied to other contexts
- a thorough knowledge of the AITSL professional practice: Engaging and working with the community
- practical skills for building community in increasingly complex times

Date: Thursday, 25th October 2012
