The future of education is in good hands, with Yong Zhao’s focus on “Educating Creative and Entrepreneurial Students”, and George Otero’s experience in “Relational Learning”. We are set to discover new and wide-ranging ways to engage students and families in education for a generation unlike any other. We will spend time in the presence of great leaders in education in Yong Zhao and George Otero, and observing best practice in school, community and business settings. We will speak with employers to discover the skills they require from successful employees in the 21st century, and meet with schools who are combining years of education experience and new research to develop learning programs and community relationships which will foster the untapped gifts and skills of every student. Educating students “out of the basement” (Yong Zhao, Briefing the Board, 2014), and empowering families and communities to be successful in all that they endeavour to achieve is our goal, and the focus of this study tour. We look forward to networking and learning from the broad range of participants on the tour, and together building on our current knowledge and expertise to create successful learning communities throughout Australia.

Delegate Information Package

Delegate Information Package

General Information

The 2016 AISWA USA study tour commences on 10 April in Portland, Oregon. Delegates will undertake various professional learning opportunities and attend educational briefings as per the itinerary that follows. We then travel to Santa Fe, New Mexico via San Francisco. The tour concludes with a bus transfer to Albuquerque airport the morning of Saturday, 23 April.

The study tour will highlight ways to improve student outcomes and provide an opportunity to learn from schools and educators in a different country and a range of different educational systems.

Study tour benefits will include knowledge and development across the following areas:

- Curriculum design and delivery in a range of contexts
- A broad range of pedagogical perspectives
- Leadership styles and contexts
- Best practice models for supporting “at risk students and communities”
- International and intercultural developments
- Potential partnerships with schools overseas

Essential Tour Information

Tour accommodation, the domestic flights from Portland to San Francisco and San Francisco to Albuquerque, transport to tour activities, tour/PD fees, most breakfasts, most lunches and the end of tour dinner are being arranged by AISWA.

Delegates should ensure they have provided AISWA with emergency contact information and arranged their own international flights, travel insurance, visa waiver (ESTA) plus any pre or post tour accommodation. Make sure you have organised any activities during allocated ‘free time’, spending money/allowances for evening meals not provided as well as any pre/post tour transfers.

When travelling overseas, the Australian Government request that you register your travel plans with DFAT through the Smart Traveller website: www.smarttraveller.gov.au. Please ensure you complete this online form prior to departure. It is also a courtesy to provide your listed emergency contacts with a copy of your travel details.

It is mandatory for all individuals who plan to travel to the USA under the Visa Waiver Program to receive an electronic authorisation known as ESTA (Electronic System for Travel Authorisation) before travel to the USA. Applications cost $14 and are processed online at <https://esta.cbp.dhs.gov/esta/esta.html>. Please note that you will need to submit your ESTA application at least 72 hours prior to departure.

Note: For travel to, from, within or over the USA you must also now provide passenger information required by the US authorities under the Secure Flight and Advance Passenger Information System (APIS) programs when booking your flights. If you do not provide your full name, date of birth and gender, your airline tickets will not be issued. The passport details and destination address for each passenger is also required at the time of booking on qantas.com. If you have not provided all of this information, you may be disrupted during check in and you may not be able to board your flight.

Things to think about

- Mental tick-box: Passport +6 months; medical needs, travel insurance, DFAT information registered, USA Visa Waiver (ESTA) application.
- Taxation advice.
- Medication – note that some prescribed medication can be considered illegal – check with your doctor.
- School expectations (for reports on return, the online study tour blog will be a great resource!)
- Business cards and name badges
- Adaptors, chargers/batteries, memory cards etc

Santa Fe Information

Essential Information

Time Zone GMT -7 hours: 15 hours behind Perth

Weather

Santa Fe experiences a semi-arid climate with chilly winters, and very warm summers. The 24-hour average temperature in the city during April ranges from 0.2°C to 18.2°C. Make sure you pack warm clothing, dress in layers and consider including a light rain coat and/or umbrella in your checked luggage. Year-round it is wise to carry sunscreen, chapstick and a brimmed hat and sunglasses as we will be high up and the sun is strong.

*Another Very Important Thing

At 2100+ metres, the air is excellent quality, but thinner. Regardless of age or physical condition, your body may need a little time to adapt to the altitude. DRINKING LOTS OF WATER IS A MUST!!! You might think you drink enough already, but a minimum of 2 litres is a starting point in Santa Fe. And remember, drinking alcohol can hinder and extend the adjustment period.

When you first arrive, it is best to allow a day or two to adjust before any strenuous activity or excursions. Take it easy, drink plenty of water, skip the alcohol for the first couple of nights, eat regular light meals and take a nap if needed. Symptoms of altitude sickness can vary and may include: drowsiness, dizziness, fainting, prolonged headaches, extreme thirst, and sleeplessness. If you do feel you need some assistance, the uliMED Urgent Care facility is just a few blocks from our hotel. No appointment is necessary and most insurances are accepted.

The Lemelson Foundation

Founded in the early 1990's, The Lemelson Foundation is directed toward ensuring a robust pipeline of inventors, inventions and invention-based enterprises. Additionally, the Foundation works to strengthen the ecosystem that cultivates inventors while also helping them to translate their ideas to inventions with impact. To create effective and appropriate inventions that will change lives requires people inspired to be agents of change through invention, and who are equipped or trained to effectively do so.

Young inventors require critical tools including:

- Cultivate the capacity to think critically, and identify real-world problems and possible solutions in the user's context through questioning, empathy, idea generation, and design process thinking.
- A strong base of knowledge in skills necessary to invent, including science, technology, engineering and math (STEM).
- The ability to learn to turn ideas into solutions through creating designs, fabricating prototypes, and incorporating entrepreneurial thinking.

Friday 15 April

Historic Columbia River Highway Scenic Byway - Multnomah Falls

Sit back, relax and enjoy a 1 hour journey along the Historic Columbia River Highway Scenic Byway. Our destination is Multnomah Falls which stands at 189 m. It is Oregon's tallest waterfall and the second tallest year round waterfall in the United States. The waterfall consists of a two-drop cascade and steep hiking trails that lead all the way to the top.

A 400 m walk will take you to Benson Bridge, a photogenic foot-crossing built in 1914 by lumber baron Simon Benson, which spans the falls' second drop. It's a great place to enjoy the view.

If you wish to take the walk up to Benson Bridge, remember to dress warmly and wear shoes with traction, because the waterfall's spray makes the entire area cool and slick. Dressing for the water also means you're already prepared for rainy weather, if storm clouds happen to roll into the Columbia River Gorge during our visit.

http://www.oregon.com/attractions/multnomah_falls

Please note the bus will depart Multnomah Falls at 10.30 am (sharp!) for our transfer to the airport.

A light morning snack (pre-ordered) will be provided for delegates when we depart the falls for our journey to the airport.

Tour Conclusion

Reflective Practice

Do talk to each other – peer support and professional learning comes from reflective experiences encountered. Talk about what has happened - what is happening and about the opportunities that can come of an experience by being reflectively critical. Don't fall into the trap of relying on personal observation. Collaborative collegial discussion can transform foreign ideas that are ultimately suitable to your own context. To gain the most:

- Ask questions about the theories and classroom practices presented
- Share resources
- Make links to set up collaborative projects
- Discuss the hot issues

Then, from what is provided, you take of it elements for your own purpose and specific context. Not all will be applicable, given the diversity of our group, but with an open-mind and respectful acknowledgement of culture, ultimately you will find what suits your needs.
