

HASS in the Media: past, present and into the future

As part of HASS Week WA, the Humanities Department at St Mary's Anglican Girls' School are proud to welcome you to this networking event for WA School Principals and HASS Leaders.

Guest speaker: Annabel Astbury

Based in Melbourne, Annabel is the Head of Education at the ABC. She has over 20 years' experience working in the education sector. Through her role at the ABC she has driven the strategy to make sure that all Australian students and teachers have access to high quality digital content.

Annabel is a leader and a voice for clients and audiences in schools education in Australia. She continues to lead and transform educational professional development, publishing, not for profit and broadcasting industries as they relate to Australian education.

Firstly we will hear Annabel's abridged version of her HASS Week WA Keynote Address, The Age of Convergence: how HASS knowledge and skills will continue to be essential to the lives of all citizens. Then she will join our local media guests on the panel to discuss more broadly, HASS and the Media: past, present and into future.

Our Panel of Media Personalities

Briana Shepherd is a tri-media reporter in the ABC Perth newsroom.

Christina Morrissey has presented on TV and Radio for the better part of two decades and is currently a presenter on Destination WA on Channel 9.

Richard Offen is a Freelance historian, heritage engagement consultant, writer and broadcaster

Jacob Kagi is a multi-platform journalist based in the ABC Perth newsroom who also covers State Parliament.

When: Wed 1 Aug 4.30 – 6.00pm

Where: St Mary's Anglican Girls' School, 75 Elliott Rd Karrinyup

Cost: $10

Please register your attendance prior to Mon 30 July via the AISWA PL Calendar
<http://www.ais.wa.edu.au/event/hass-media-hass-week-network-event-school-leaders>

